Description:

The first step in building a successful website is to build your meta-tags and keywords. These tell the search engines what your site is about After you've built your meta-tags and added your keywords to your pages it's time to submit your site to the search engines. Please don't use an auto submitter for the most part they don't work I recently tried a popular windows based submitter on over 50 search engines and only one responded. For the most part search engines will respond with an activation email to check that you're a real person and you really did submit your site others use a graphic to ensure you are a live person, some require you to choose a category for your site. When you use Internettreasures.com to submit your site we do it manually and we respond to all the emails that are sent to ensure your site is really submitted.
